Memories

He fell headlong into sunlight, and his Part of the body found warm ground. When he straightened up, he saw that he was in a nearly deserted Place for kids. A single huge chimney dominated the distant skyline. Two girls were swinging backward and forward, and a skinny boy was watching them from behind a clump of Plant (plural). His Color hair was overlong and his clothes were so mismatched that it looked deliberate: too short jeans, a shabby, overlarge coat that might have belonged to a grown Animal, an odd smocklike shirt.
