THE CHAIR

"When my sister _____First Name_____ and I were kids, our family lived for awhile in a charming old _____location_____. We loved exploring its dusty corners and climbing the _____Noun_____ tree in the backyard. But our favorite thing was the _____Noun_____. We called her _____Nickname_____, because she seemed so kind and nurturing. Some mornings _____Person_____ and I would wake up, and on each of our nightstands, we'd find a _____Noun_____ that hadn't been there the night before. _____Person_____ had left them there, worried that we'd get thirsty during the night. She just wanted to take care of us. Among the homes' original furnishings was an antique wooden _____Noun_____ which we kept against the back wall of the living room. Whenever we were preoccupied, watching TV or playing a game, _____Person_____ would inch that _____Noun_____ forward, across the room, toward us. Sometimes she'd manage to move it all the way to the centre of the room. We always felt sad putting it back against the wall. _____Person_____ just wanted to be near us. Years later, long after we'd moved out, I found an old newspaper article about the farmhouse's original occupant, a _____Noun_____. She'd _____verb past tense modifying a noun_____ her two children by giving them each a cup of _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____ before bed. Then she hung herself. The article included a photo of the farmhouse's living room, with a woman's _____Noun_____ hanging from a beam. Beneath her, knocked over, was that old _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____, placed exactly in the center of the room."
