The Monkey's Paw

Sergeant-Major _____ Last Name introduces a mummified _____ animal _____ body part to Mr. and Mrs. _____ Last Name. He tells them that he found it while serving in _____ Country. The _____ body part has the ability to grant three wishes but they always come with terrible consequences.

Mr. _____ Last Name ignores Morris' warnings and asks the _____ Noun _____ a wish for £200. Next day he receives the news that his son _____ First Name died in an _____ Noun _____ at his workplace. The employer sends £200 as compensation for the family of the accident victim.

Mrs. _____ Last Name is anguished and wants her _____ Noun _____ back. After nearly 10 days of the funeral, the couple decides to ask for another wish. They rub the _____ Noun possessive _____ body part and ask for his son to come back. They hear a _____ onomatopoeia _____ on the door. The _____ onomatopoeia _____ turns into _____ onomatopoeia ending in ing _____ and Mrs. _____ Last Name fumbles to open the _____ Noun _____.

Terrified with the idea of seeing a _____ Adjective _____ and _____ Adjective _____ body of their son outside his house, Mr. _____ last name makes the third and final wish. The door knocks stop and when Mrs. _____ Last Name opens the door, she is shattered in pain and disappointment as there is _____ Noun _____ there.
