

Maybe You Will Remember

1. Person _____
2. Location _____
3. Profession _____
4. Profession _____
5. Noun _____
6. Person Possessive _____
7. Illness _____
8. Concept _____
9. Profession _____
10. Noun _____
11. Verb Present Tense Modifying A Noun _____
12. Body Part _____

Maybe You Will Remember

There are few things worse than the fear that you're going insane. One day, _____ Person _____ and her mother stop at a hotel in _____ Location _____. Her mother is ill, so the girl calls the hotel _____ profession _____ to see what can be done for her. The _____ profession _____ says she needs _____ Noun _____, and it can be retrieved from his wife across town. When she returns to the hotel, no one seems to remember who she is. When she asks to see the room her mom is in, it's totally different than the one she recalls. It turns out that _____ Person Possessive _____ mother had the _____ illness _____ and died soon after her daughter left. In order to divert _____ concept _____, the _____ profession _____ buried her _____ Noun _____ in a cemetery, redecorated the room completely and told everyone in the hotel to pretend they didn't _____ verb present tense modifying a noun _____ her. What resulted was a poor girl who thought she was losing her _____ body part _____ and didn't know where her mother was.