The Cabin Horror Story

A _____Noun_____ decided to go on a hike by himself. Something he was not very used to. The whole day was _____Adjective_____. Trees and _____Noun Plural_____ engulfed his surroundings. He enjoyed being outdoors in the mountains. Nothing seemed _____Adjective_____ to him, that was until he was making his way back to his car. He figured an eight _____Time period like hour_____ hike was good enough. The sky was already getting _____Adjective_____ and he needed to get back, fast. What was odd was how much he didn't recognize the trail back. He began to panic.

Night had already taken over and all he had was a _____Noun_____ and no clue on how to get back. He knew it was already too late and too dangerous to keep going through the _____Adjective_____ forest. He began to worry that he would have no shelter for the night when almost luckily enough, he stumbled across a broken-down _____Noun_____. It was dark, and seemed like no one had visited it in years, but he knew it was the only place where he could rest until daylight, especially since his _____Noun_____ was running out of battery. He _____onomatopoeia past tense_____ on the door a few times but no one answered, so he let himself in where strangely enough, a perfect _____Noun_____ fitted for one person awaited him in the center. He knew that if the owner came back he could explain himself, he was sure that the owner wouldn't mind, or was even probably _____Adjective_____. So he went ahead and got himself comfortable in bed. As he tried to _____Verb Base Form_____, he couldn't ignore the collection of paintings around the room; portraits of strange looking _____Noun Plural_____ all peering at him, each wearing a _____Noun_____ that sent _____Noun Plural_____ up his _____body part plural_____. Not too long after his exhaustion from the hike got the best of him and he was able to ignore the _____Noun Plural_____.

The next morning he got up early and was shocked to see that there were no paintings around the room, but
