Mad Lib Monday - Ethics Week 2022

Justin Green is a _____Adjective_____ NBU employee. He always strives to live up to the motto Know and Do the Right Thing and passes this along to his team. Justin serves NBU as the Electric Operations Manager. Part of his responsibilities are to order the materials needed in order for his department to provide electricity to the residents of New Braunfels. Common materials used by this department are insulators, wires, poles, transformers, _____Noun Plural_____, and _____Noun Plural_____. Some of these items are purchased directly and some require solicitation to find a vendor that can offer the _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____.

Justin has just learned that his department has a very low inventory of transformers and a Request for Bids will need to be posted quickly in order to get these items in as soon as possible. Justin works with the Purchasing department to move forward with the solicitation and looks forward to receiving the responses so he may evaluate the respondents and move forward with the purchase. Immediately after the posting, John Evans, a friend of his from college, and also owner of Lenux Electronics, Inc. reaches out to him and wants to schedule a time to spend the weekend in _____Proper Noun - City_____ for a deep-sea fishing trip so they can catch fish and catch up. Justin agrees to go because he misses his friend and loves to fish.

John and Justin go fishing and have a great time. As they are pulling up to the dock to weigh their catch of the day, Jacob Smith, owner of DEF Transformers, is _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ on the dock to load the boat for his fishing trip. He greets John and Justin and tells Justin he just submitted his bid for the transformers and hopes to hear from him soon. When John heard that, he told Justin he also submitted a bid and is _____Adverb_____ awaiting to hear that his bid is the best. While Justin had no idea that a fishing trip to catch up with his friend would end up as an appearance of impropriety, he knows now he should have _____Verb Past Tense_____ the offer and gone by himself or not at all.
