A Quick Adventure Through Time

I remember being at the match. I remember hearing a sound. Then I woke up it a, looking up at Madame Pomfrey. I still don't understand how I ended up hurt but I up at some point to see some flowers, cards, and other trinkets on the table next to my bec Something glinted in the light. I reached over and it up, it was a corded necklace. I saw an inscription and I read it to myself, "I mark the hours, every one, nor have I outrun the sun. M use and value, unto you, are gauged by what you have to do." Curious what that meant, I turned the Noun Plural in my hand and saw they surrounded an hourglass. Then something happened. There was a pulling sensation in the pit of my and it felt like the world was spinning. I dropped the necklace and looked around, I found myself in an alley. There was a briefcase on the Noun in front of me. The wall above it had a Adjective hole in it and I could see something coming towards me on the other side. It was an animal, it looked similar to a but it wasn't. It jumped,out toward my face, it's head swiveled toward the necklace and it reached a paw out so, I had no time to react. Before I knew it, the creature and the necklace had disappeared into the suitcase. I opened the suitcase and grabbed quickly, thinking the creature would be ready to bolt past me. My hand only met air, however. It threw me off balance and suddenly I was falling down, down, down. I landed on the of a staircase. I looked around and found myself in a Adjective room. I didn't see the creature anywhere. I pulled out my wand and advanced through the room noticing that it was packed with along the walls and shelves. I peeked out into a cavern even bigger

It was big and beautiful but it struck terror in my It locked eyes with me and flew up in the air, turned around and made a beeline in my direction. I saw it open its Part of Body , rows of shiny teeth glinted at me. I think I passed out, then, sir. And that's how I came to be in your company, Mr. Scamander.
