Sonnet 18

Shall I compare thee to a season day?

Thou art more Adverb and more Adjective:

Rough winds do Verb Base Form the darling flower of Month,

And same season lease hath all too short a date;

Sometime too temperature the body part of heaven shines,

And often is his color complexion dimm'd;

And every Adjective from same adjective sometime declines,

By chance or nature's changing course untrimm'd;

But thy eternal same season shall not fade,

Nor lose possession of that same adjective thou ow'st;

Nor shall Noun brag thou wander'st in his shade,

When in eternal lines to time thou grow'st:

So long as Proper Noun Plural can breathe or same body part can see,

So long lives this, and this gives life to thee.
