DEAR ABBY 1

DEAR ABBY: I recently met the love of my life, and I'm planning to leave my _____Noun_____ and family in Arkansas and move to _____Location_____ to marry him. He's recently divorced after a _____number of years followed by year_____ marriage. My problem is that his _____Noun_____ wanted the divorce, but now she wants him _____Verb Past Tense_____. She knows he has met someone, but she's constantly telling him she wants a "booty _____Noun_____."

They have two grown _____Noun Plural_____, and their _____Noun_____ is being married soon. His ex is now threatening that if he brings me to the wedding, she will do something _____Adjective_____. I know he loves me and he talks to _____Person_____ only to keep her calm, but I feel if he doesn't take _____Noun_____ to the wedding he will be highly disrespecting _____Person_____. He still talks to her even though she has said some _____Adjective_____ things about _____Noun_____, which is also _____Adjective_____. Am I being too _____Adjective_____? -- PERPLEXED IN THE SOUTH

DEAR PERPLEXED: When this man's ex tells him she wants a booty _____Noun_____, how does he respond? If he's still _____Adverb_____ involved with _____Noun_____, your odds of success with him are zero. He may talk to her (in spite of her saying _____Adjective_____ things about you) because they have children and possibly _____Noun Plural_____ in common. That he would repeat her less than _____Adjective_____ comments to you does not say much for his judgment.

Under these _____Noun Plural_____, I don't think you should insist upon attending that _____Event_____. Instead, think carefully about the wisdom of leaving your life and _____Noun_____ and _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ unless you have a _____Noun_____ waiting and a guaranteed _____Noun_____ regarding marriage.
