Interview with a Pixar Animator

INTERVIEWER: Welcome to California! We're here today with John _____Silly word_____, all-star animator and director at Pixar _____Noun_____ Studios.

JOHN: Yes, Mrs. _____Silly word_____, thank you.

INTERVIEWER: Now, we've heard of the films you've worked on, like _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ Nemo, Wall-E, _____Noun Plural_____ University, and most recently, Turning _____Color_____. What was it like _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ on these films?

JOHN: Well, it was very _____Adjective_____ because I liked _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ with everyone about the story in the storyboarding room. We've developed so many _____Adjective_____ characters at Pixar, and every day my sketchbook is filled with _____Number_____ drawings of _____Pixar character_____ _____Verb Present ends in ING_____.

INTERVIEWER: What inspired you to get into animation?

JOHN: I started making _____Noun Plural_____ when I was in _____Ordinal number_____ grade, and I liked how drawings could bring things to life, so I then thought very later if it can be done with a _____Noun_____. The characters I most enjoyed animating were _____Pixar character_____, _____Pixar character_____, and _____Pixar character_____.

INTERVIEWER: Can you _____Verb Base Form_____ us more about the studio?

JOHN: This studio is great! At Pixar, everyone decorates their _____Noun_____ however they want and whatever matches their _____Noun_____. There's a _____Food_____ bar, a theater with _____Number_____ _____Noun Plural_____, and even a gift shop! It's nice to have fun every once in a while.

INTERVIEWER: Are there any special traditions you have with your colleagues?

JOHN: Sometimes, we dress up as _____Noun Plural_____ and have a contest to see who sounds the best in a band, and other times we have _____Type of vehicle_____ races across the main _____Noun_____.

INTERVIEWER: Have I heard this right? There's going to be a new, _____Adjective_____ Pixar film coming out _____Month_____ 16, 2025. It's titled _____Pixar film title_____ 2, correct?

JOHN: Yes. We've actually released the teaser _____Noun_____, so you can _____Verb Base Form_____ it when you get home! But, one last thing: after a great interview, I always say this to myself:
