THE RODENT'S GAZETTE

1.	Adjective
2.	Noun
3.	Noun
4.	Adjective
5.	Noun
6.	Noun
7.	Verb Present Ends In Ing
8.	Verb Present Ends In Ing
9.	Noun
10.	Verb Base Form
11.	Noun
12.	Proper Noun
13.	Adjective
14.	Noun

THE RODENT'S GAZETTE

NEW MOUSE CITY-A vat overturned early today at the sending a river of liquid out into Ratford Avenue and bringing traffic to a standstill. The nearby George Mousington Elementary School became an island in a lake of runny
Young rodents on their way to school found the way blocked by thousands of gallons of the gooey Noun . While they were staring in amazement, a pupil identified as Billy De Ratte pushed little Matthew Mousekin in. But instead of getting stuck, the young mouse began verb Present ends in ING around and Dozens of school rodents took the hint,, and joined him. Soon, a gathered to watch the fun. When the school principal, Mr. Proper Noun, finally arrived and tried to restore order, the unruly swimmers splashed him all over with the stuff.
Realizing that there was no danger and that the youngsters were having a grand time, he declared school canceled for the day.
Then, with a loud shout of "Wheee!" he made a perfect swan dive into the, a feat that was greeted by loud cheers from youngsters and grown rodents alike.

©2025 WordBlanks.com  $\cdot$  All Rights Reserved.