Long Way Round

Tom was a _____Adjective_____ man with a _____Noun_____. He loved to ride and dreamed of _____Noun_____.

One day, he decided to go for a long ride.

He rode through the city, feeling the wind on his face. He thought about the people he knew and how they would remember him.

Tom promised to tell them stories when he came back.

As night fell, he found a quiet place to sleep under the stars. He was alone but happy, thinking about his next ride.

Tom's life was simple. He didn't have much, but he had his freedom and his bike.

He lived his life the way he wanted, always ready for the next journey.
