More stories at WordBlanks.com

Rosh HaShana in York

1. Adjective _____
2. Adjective _____
3. Noun Plural _____
4. Adjective _____
5. Noun Plural _____
6. Verb Past Tense _____
7. Noun _____
8. Noun Plural _____
9. Noun _____
10. Noun Plural _____
11. Noun _____
12. Verb Past Tense _____
13. Adjective _____
14. Verb Past Tense _____
15. Verb Present Ends In Ing _____
16. Noun Plural _____
17. Noun Plural _____
18. Verb Present Ends In Ing _____
19. Adjective _____
20. Noun Plural _____
21. Noun _____
22. Noun Plural _____
23. Noun _____

Rosh HaShana in York

The Jews of York were really _____Adjective_____. It was almost Rosh Hashanah, and they were all preparing to go to the seder for a _____Adjective_____ meal with _____Noun Plural_____. Each family chose a _____Adjective_____ food to bring that symbolises goodness in the coming year. Eli's family brought beetrroot, because the Hebrew word for beetroot sounds like 'to remove', so that all our _____Noun Plural_____ should be forgiven. Iris's family _____Verb Past Tense_____ to bring dates, which sounds like the word for ending, in the hope that all war will end this _____Noun_____. Lily's family brought black-eyed _____Noun Plural_____ which sounds like the Hebrew words for abundant good _____Noun_____. Aaron's family opted for _____Noun Plural_____, whose 613 seeds represent the many ways we can make our lives holy. Jules convinced his family to bring gourds, because the word for gourd reminds us to rip up the past to make way for a new _____Noun_____. All of these foods were _____Verb Past Tense_____ on the table, and people fed them to one another with blessings. Then everyone dipped their apple slices in honey, getting ready to ask for a _____Adjective_____ new year. Suddenly, Rabbi Elisheva _____Verb Past Tense_____ up, _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ one of the tables. 'Oh dear', she cried, 'we forgot to eat the fish _____Noun Plural_____!' Quickly, all the children ran to the front and fought over who got to eat the ones with the biggest _____Noun Plural_____. The whole room heaved a sigh of relief once they were eaten, and the children started _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ about how many _____Adjective_____ eyeballs they were planning to eat next year. Now the _____Noun Plural_____ could celebrate, knowing that the _____Noun_____ for peaceful increase was eaten. They enjoyed the _____Noun Plural_____ with honey, blessed the challah, and had a wonderful _____Noun_____.

©2026 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.