BOMC Madness

Today was ridiculous, and let me tell you why. It started out just like any other _____Day of the week - weekday_____, with _____Male Co-Worker_____ _____Verb Present ends in ING_____ around the office holding a/an _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____ in his _____Part of Body_____, and _____Female Co-Worker_____ rolling her eyes at him while laughing to herself. "He's such a/an _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____."

Of course I was _____Number_____ minutes late, so I was just walking in as it happened. Around 0830, Capt Casaleno came into the BOMC office. She goes "Good morning team, listen I know we've had a/an _____Adjective_____ month, but it's about to get _____Adjective ending in -er_____". Everyone looked absolutely _____Adjective_____. I decided to speak up and said "How could it get any more _____Adjective_____ than it already is ?", to which she replied "Well, we have about _____Number_____ deployers leaving tomorrow. Col Baker said they're all _____Adjective_____, and for some reason they're all going to need _____Number_____ _____Medication_____ injections in their _____Part of Body_____ ".

Major immediately opened a/an _____Adjective_____ website, Diaz dropped his _____Noun_____, and Miller just whispered "I need _____Food_____." Capt Casaleno then added "Also, one of them apparently needs a/an _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____ signed by a/an _____Noun_____ before _____Number_____ o'clock."

Simon shook his head and muttered "_____Obscenity_____". Diaz was shaking his leg about _____Number_____ times per minute, but was watching _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____ videos on his phone and actually had no idea what Capt Casaleno said. Major just looked concerned, and said "What if one of them has a/an _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____, are we doing waivers for them?" Capt Casaleno, wide eyed, said "I'm so _____Emotion - You should be able to say - I am so THIS_____ you asked that, it's been confirmed that whether the member is _____Adjective_____ or not, we are pushing all waivers".

Miller sat at her desk with all of her _____Adjective_____ Barbie paraphernalia and just said "Well, I guess we're calling Jeffrey to bring us _____Number_____ _____Food Plural_____". Jeffrey showed up _____Number_____ minutes later carrying _____Number_____ _____Food Plural_____ and a/an _____Adjective_____ _____Drink_____, looking more _____Adjective_____ than the rest of us.

Olonan walks by, mumbling as usual, and says to Diaz "Bro I'm about to _____Verb - something you can do to something_____ this _____Noun_____". Simon, looking utterly perplexed, says "You're going to _____A verb that rhymes with the previous verb_____ the _____A noun that rhymes with the previous noun_____...?" Olonan just kept walking because he was oblivious and had no idea anyone spoke to him. What a/an _____Noun_____.

Major decides it's story time. "Guys one time at an honor guard funeral, there was this _____Adjective_____ old lady and she was crying so much. I wanted to be nice, so afterwards I _____Verb ending in -ed - something you can do to someone_____ her. Like right in her face too. It was _____Adjective_____". Everyone just kind of stared at Major, and then moved on

We spent the next _____Number_____ hours processing all of these deployers, and let's just say, the injections were "interesting" at best. By the end of the day, the office smelled like _____Adjective_____ _____Noun_____, someone was crying in the _____Noun_____ closet, and I was _____Number_____ seconds away from filing a waiver for myself . I'd rather lick a/an _____Noun_____ than tell someone they're due for that again.
