Weather report

Good Morning! I am _____Name of a person_____ _____number_____meteorologist, and here is todayâ??s weather.

The sky is generally overcast. Most of the clouds are cumulonimbus and that means that we could be getting some rain before the day is out. The rain gauge says that we got about 7 inches of rain last night and there could be about 10 more inches of rain before the day is over. Do not forget to wear your rain boots and bring an umbrella. We might even get some hail.

The weather vane says the winds are from the West and the anemometer says the winds speed should be about 25 miles per hour, making a strong breeze. In the mountains it should be cooler and on the beach there could be some big waves.

Here is your Three day forecast-

Monday-

Tuesday â??

Wednesday-

Have a great day!
