Cooking with Unicorn Juice

Myloves to cook. But sometimes I think she takes things a little too far. She deffinately crossed the line when she cut off my unicorn's horn and poured out all the juice inside it. Now, I thought it was bad when she fried my's legs, liquified my's saliva for a smoothie, clipped my THIS IS TOO FAR! My poor, poor unicornwill never be the same. Now all the other unicorns laugh at him and call him a Adjective horse. It's like a Rudolph the Reindeer story gone wrong. I once tookon a walk after this incident and someAdjective Adjective hobo asked me where I got such a Adjective donkey. It hurt Name of unicorn 's self esteem terribly. I confronted myabout this and asked politely if she would consider gettin Name of unicorn 's horn professionly glued back on. She smiled and said Name of person dear, just try the soup I made with the unicorn juice."; Well, I did. AND IT WAS AMAZING! It tasted quite delicious. But about an hour later, I noticed something strange. My tounge had turned a vibrant shade ofand my teeth were a stunning Shocked, I went to splash water on my face thinking it was all a dream and
