Not even a little offensive

I emailed Pat before the trip to _____Country but he still forgot to bring the shackles. We looked in every village but could not find _____Adjective gear for the return trip home, and the laborers that we had in mind to _____Verb with us. What happened next changed our view on slavery forever.

We had a _____Adjective group. Colin and Luiz continued to _____Verb the local shops while Ben and pat _____Past tense verb the ship. later that afternoon, Tony convinced us all to take a break and have lunch in one of the _____Adjective camps. Nick _____Adverb started conversation with a _____Adjective 12 year old girl about superiority of Northern Europeans. She was not convinced, and _____Past tense verb used to signal someone _____(called, waved, etc) all the village children over to change our _____Body part (plural).

All Children between 7 and 14 began to _____Verb and engage in relations with us. We all found ourselves balls deep in prepubescent _____Ethnicity based on country from first choice vagina, except for Luiz who _____Verb a black goat.

The village Rank (plural) (shaman captain etc.) approved of us and we were instantly married to the children.

We all learned from our Situation (party orgy experience trip etc...) and if we had planned on ever returning to that place again, we may not have burned the village down when we left, but we vowed never to take slaves again unless they were Jewish.
