Structured Settlements

A structured settlement is a financial or insurance arrangement, including periodic payments, that a _____ Noun accepts to resolve a _____ Adjective injury tort claim or to compromise a statutory periodic _____ Verb ending in ing obligation. Structured settlements were first utilized in _____ Location and the United States during the 1970s as an alternative to lump sum settlements. Structured settlements are now part of the _____ Adjective tort law of several common law countries including: Australia, Canada, _____ Location and the United States. Although some uniformity exists, each of these countries has its own definitions, rules and _____ Plural noun for structured settlement. Structured settlements may include income tax and spendthrift requirements as well as _____ Plural noun. Structured settlement payments are sometimes called _____ Verb _____ ending in ing payments'. A structured settlement _____ Past tense verb into a trial judgment is called a 'periodic _____ Noun judgment'.
