torture

1.	Name Of A Person
2.	Civilization
3.	Number
4.	Location
5.	First Name
6.	Name Of A Person
7.	Noun
8.	Video Game
9.	Adjective
10.	Civilization
11.	Number
12.	Noun
13.	Verb Ending In Ing
14.	Adverb
15.	Civilization
16.	First Name
17.	Name Of A Person
18.	Verb
19.	Number
20.	Proper Noun
21.	Verb
22.	Year

torture

gave his name as John Johnson and was first interrogated by members of the King's Privy Chamber, where he remained defiant. When asked by one of the lords what he was doing in possession of so much gunpowder, Fawkes answered that his intention was "to blow youbeggars back to your native mountains
."[37] He identified himself as a Number Catholic from Location in Yorkshire, and gave his father's name asand his mother's asName of a personJacksonon his body noted by his questioners he explained as the effects of Fawkes admitted his intention to blow up the House of Lords, and expressed regret at his failure to do so. Hismanner earned him the admiration of King James, who described Fawkes as possessing "aresolution".[38] James's admiration did not, however, prevent him from ordering on Number Noun that "John Johnson"; be to reveal the names of his co-conspirators.[39] He directed that the torture be light at first, referring to the use of manacles, but more severe if necessary, authorising the use of the rack: " theTortures are to be first used unto him et sic per gradus ad ima tenditur [and so by degrees proceeding to the worst]".[37][40] Fawkes was transferred to the Tower of London. The King composed a list of questions to be put to "Johnson", such as "as to what he is, For I can never yet hear of any man that knows him",
"When and where he learned to speak French?", and "If he was a who brought him up in it?"[

] The room in which	Fawkes was interre	ogated subsequently	became known as the _	First name Nama of a parson	Room [42] observer Sir Edward Hoby remarked "Since Proper noun being in the Tower, he beginneth to speak English". Fawkes revealed his true identity on 7 November, and told his interrogators that there were five people involved in the plot tothe King. He began to reveal their names on 8 November, and told how they intended to place Princess Elizabeth on the throne. His third confession, on 9 November, implicated Francis Tresham. Following the Ridolfi plot ofprisoners were made to dictate their confessions, before copying and signing them, if they still could.[46] Although it is uncertain if he was subjected to the horrors of the rack, Fawkes's signature, little more than a scrawl, bears testament to the suffering he endured at the hands of his interrogator

©2025 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.