

Think Again

1. Noun _____
2. Noun _____
3. Noun _____
4. Noun _____
5. Noun _____
6. Noun _____
7. Noun _____
8. Noun _____
9. Noun _____
10. Noun _____
11. Noun _____
12. Noun _____
13. Noun _____
14. Noun _____
15. Noun _____
16. Noun _____
17. Noun _____
18. Noun _____
19. Noun _____
20. Noun _____
21. Noun _____
22. Noun _____
23. Noun _____

24. Noun _____

25. Noun _____

26. Noun _____

27. Noun _____

28. Noun _____

29. Noun _____

30. Noun _____

31. Noun _____

32. Noun _____

33. Noun _____

34. Noun _____

35. Noun _____

36. Noun _____

37. Noun _____

38. Noun _____

39. Noun _____

Think Again

Once upon a time, there was a _____ merchant who decided to give away his wealth. When his friends, knew about his _____ decision, they _____ to his _____ asking for a piece of the _____ . The _____ man on earth, more than a _____ dollar worth, was the first one there. He was given what he asked for, a few billionsâ?Then came the _____ man for another few billions, then the third and so onâ?After a handful of our _____ idols were done, the _____ I mean _____ man's wealth was reduced to a mere _____ cents. Very annoyed, he then decided to give up his remaining _____ to as many people as possible. So he drove by to the poorest neighborhood in town, giving a whole cent to the first _____ people he found.

As a matter of fact, the rich man's _____ was almost totally "sucked"; by other _____ peopleâ?;

And there was another _____ merchant, more prudent, and â?fond of quantum theory. Just like his generous fellow, he chose to give up his _____. However, he added a rule as to the distribution of his _____: any _____ would only be allowed to receive whole _____ of his or her personal _____. Whoever owns _____ can only receive _____ or any multiple of _____. no circumstances can he get a fraction of _____.

So

when the _____ Noun _____ man on earth, still thirsty of more _____ Noun _____ knocked at the wise man's door and asked for a few billions, his demand was _____ Noun _____ as he couldn't comply with the new quantum rule: according to this rule, the _____ Noun _____ man on earth can only receive a multiple of his _____ Noun _____ _____ Noun _____ dollar _____ Noun _____. Since the generous man doesn't have that much funds, the _____ Noun _____ man on earth was sent home without an extra penny.