What Happens When You're Not Asleep When Santa Comes

It was a very dark and _____ Adjective Christmas night. _____ First name and _____ Another first name lay in their beds in their rooms, staring out of their windows into the dark of the night. Neither of them slept. Their eagerness for the following morning was preventing them from sleeping peacefully. _____ first name heard the noise first. It was a _____ Adjective _____ Onomatopoeia that came from downstairs, probably in the living room. He jumped out of his bed and threw open the door. He found himself facing _____ another first name who had done the same after hearing the noise. They _____ Adverb began walking down the staircase, approaching the living room. They caught sight of their lighted Christmas _____ Noun which illuminated the room. In the fireplace, carrying a huge bag, stood a scary man who was certainly not Santa. His skin was blue, and his hair was a bright _____ Color. "What are you doing here!"; he shouted angrily. _____ first name and _____ another first name ran out of the room, screaming loudly. They had barely made it out before the entire room exploded with a flash of bright light. The two children kept running, going out of their door and down their street as the sounds of explosions rang in their ears. Eventually, however, the man caught them. Remember, children... Always be asleep when Santa comes!
