Homies (revised)

I've always been a(n) Adjective kid, but it never stopped me from having friends somehow. I even had a(n) Adjective friend, Friend's name who just adored Plural noun. Now tell me that wasn't meant to be because I ADORE plural noun! But, our friendship only lasted Number days, partly because plural noun is all we had in common and also because I enjoyed spending my time Verb ending in ing and friend's name liked to Verb. The two just don't mix! So, I set about looking for a new friend. That's when I met Another friend's name. What a(n) Adjective person! We could sit for Amount of time (days years) and talk about Adjective Plural noun and how we liked to Verb you can do to something (kiss hug) them! We also had the same love of Plural animal. We spent a lot of time at Place (the race track the mall walmart) and watch the Adjective people as they walked by. We would shout to see if we could get a reaction. Mostly people would just stop and look at us for a second, but once this Adjective guy got really mad and said ' Kiss my Adjective!' That was the last time we did that! There was another time, we snuck out of the house to go to S/o or crush's name's house. When we finally got there we couldn't believe what we saw! s/o or crush's name was Verb you can do to something ending in ing (kissing) a Noun! I will never talk to that weirdo again as long as I live! My friend and I got home and ate a ton of Food and passed out. Thank God for food and friends!
