The Little Engine That Couldn't

Once upon a time, there was a small engine named           Name          . He was playing with his friends in the           Location           when they encountered a very           Adjective           ditch. All of the other engines pushed down a           Noun           to make a bridge over the ditch. Then, they all walked across it, except for           First name used          . "I'm too           Adjective           shouted           First name used          . "Don't be such a           Noun           said his friend           Name          . Then,           First name used           started to walk across the makeshift bridge. All of a sudden, he started to           Verb          . "Guy's, I'm falling!", exclaimed           First name used          . Then, he regained his strength and stood back up. Then he said, "I'm gonna go back, guys. I guess I'm just too           Adjective           to cross this ditch!"; His friends laughed at him and walked away. Poor           First name used          . He just couldn't.
