A honesty letter to my wife,

Dear,           Name of a girl          .

I really think you are very           Adjective           and           Adjective           but, i have some things that i have lied to you about..

1. Your           Body part           scare me.

2. When i tell you a           Article of clothing           looks good on you, i really mean it looks like           Animal           poop.

3. I hate your           Relative           she is           Adjective           she also is VERY           Adjective          .

Love,           Name of a boy          .
