The Attack

There was a group of mini elves that lived in a Christmas tree at a Christmas tree farm. They had built so much they almost had an entire town in the Christmas tree. But one day, a family came along and thought that the Christmas tree was the Adjective. They were going to Verb it down! The elves had to do something Adverb in order to save their home. So, they decided to Verb the family. All the elves ran to get their weapons and slingshots. They crawled to the edge of the Noun and started to shoot at the family. The youngest person in the family was a girl and she turned and Verb. The elves thought they were winning, but that Adverb changed when the little girl came back. In her hands was a chainsaw. The little girl got down on her Part of the body and knees and started to cut the tree down. The elves now realized that they would not win this battle and the family would take their Noun home. The mini elves fled the tree, but they were not homeless long, soon enough they found another Adjective tree.
