The Lion in Love

A First name once fell in love with a Adjective First name and proposed marriage to her parents. The old people did not know what to say.

They did not like to give their daughter to the First name yet they did not wish to enrage the King of Noun. At last the father said:

////////////////////////////////////'We feel highly honoured by your proposal, but you see our daughter is a Adjective Adjective thing, and we fear that you might possibly do her some injury. I suggest that you should have your Plural noun removed, and your Proper noun plural extracted, then we would gladly consider your proposal again.////////////////////////////////////' The

First name was so much in love that he had his Plural noun trimmed and his big Proper noun plural taken out. But when First name came again to the parents of the young girl they simply laughed in his face, and bade him do his worst.
