How to Pass Time During Long Car Rides

Introduction

Everyone loves a road trip. You roll down the _____Noun_____to feel the breeze in your hair, turn up the radio to your favorite song and _____Verb_____every word. Then it starts to rain and up go the _____Plural noun_____. Your station has lost signal and now you have just been detoured to who knows where. Here are a few tips to help make your road trip something to remember, instead of something you want to forget.

Instructions

Difficulty: Easy

Things You'll Need

* _____Plural noun_____

* CDs

* Car radio or satellite radio

* Books and magazines

* Snacks and drinks

* Trash bags

* Crossword puzzles or word searches

* Pens or pencils

Steps

Step One

_____Verb_____to the radio. Satellite radio is excellent for long road trips because you won't lose signal as you move from territory to territory and it offers a huge variety of music and talk.

Step Two

Bring your favorite _____Plural noun_____ maybe even some of your not-so-favorite CDs, depending on how long the _____Noun_____ride is going to be.

Step Three

Read

a _____Noun_____or magazine. Make sure you are able to tolerate reading and _____Verb ending in ing_____in a moving vehicle at the same time. You might even want to bring a book or brochure about your destination and read aloud to the driver. A long car ride also provides an opportunity to work on crossword puzzles, word searches or Sudoku.

Step Four

_____Verb_____a DVD. Whether you have a DVD player built right into your vehicle, or you bring a portable player with you, movies definitely help to pass the time. If you have a good _____Noun_____ you can also watch movies on a laptop _____Noun_____.

Step Five

Take naps. You don't want to _____Verb_____the entire trip because after all getting there is half the _____Noun_____. Plus, if you're _____Verb ending in ing_____the whole time the poor driver is bored out of his mind and could even fall asleep himself.

Step Six

Snack on foods that don't make a big mess. _____Plural noun_____or other dry foods are your best bet. You don't want to eat anything that can stain the upholstery or anything with a _____Adjective_____odor. Be sure to limit your drink intake otherwise you will be stopping for a restroom break every few miles, making your trip even longer.

Step Seven

Play games. 'I Spy' is an old classic that just about everyone knows how to play.

Step Eight

_____Verb_____drivers

every couple of hours. This way everybody can get a chance to take a nap, watch a movie or read. Keeping one driver the entire trip is great for the passenger, but think of that poor soul behind the wheel for hours upon end, not able to put up their _____Part of body_____or rest their _____Part of body_____.

Tips & Warnings

* Try to determine how long you are going to be in the _____Noun_____and be sure to account for possible _____Noun_____areas, accidents and other delays. Plan accordingly. If you're only going to be in the car a few hours, you probably don't need you entire collection of _____Number_____CDs and DVDs.

* Drive-through _____Plural noun_____are going to save you a lot of time if you are in a hurry to arrive at your destination. Be sure to bring a couple trash bags with you.

* Dress _____Adjective_____for your road trip. You don't want to be cramped in what seems like the tiniest car in the world while wearing your tightest pair of blue _____Plural noun_____.

* Wear shoes that are easy to slip on and off. Even though you are _____Verb ending in ing_____most of the time, somehow your _____Part of body_____will get tired. You don't want to have to mess with shoelaces every time you want your feet to breathe a little.

* If you are the driver and you feel even the slightest bit _____Adjective_____ pull over, get out of the car (preferably not on the side of the road though), stretch and switch drivers for a while. If you're traveling alone, it's best to splurge for a hotel room for the night instead of risking falling asleep on the _____Noun_____.

* Never try to watch _____Plural noun_____or read, for even a moment, if you are behind the wheel. A split second is all it takes for your car to veer off the road or into oncoming _____Noun_____.

* Never drink alcoholic beverages to occupy your time. It's dangerous and illegal. You don't want to spend your vacation behind _____Plural noun_____or in the _____Location_____.
