The radioactive Monkey King

Once upon a time, a monkey king was sitting with his servants fanning him when all of a sudden, a Noun fell from the sky and hit the monkey king in the head. A few minutes later, the monkey king started going mad throwing bananas and coconuts at others. He was growing black spots on his chest and was glowing green. The other monkeys were worried. The king was stuck like that for ever and all of the other monkeys moved away because them and their familys were in great danger.
