THE FIRE

I woke to the smell of           Noun          . My family rushed out of the           Location          . Dad went back in and Past tense verb           out screaming,           First name                     Same name                     Same name          !" A           Body part of flame           Past tense verb           and engulfed him. My father was no more.
