More stories at WordBlanks.com

Funniest Story Ever

1. Adjective _____

Funniest Story Ever

One morning, I woke up out of bed, and when I did it, I tripped over my _____Adjective_____bunny slippers. When I got to the bathroom to brush my teeth, I slipped on a banana peel. I took a shower with cold water, but then it became so hot it burned me and some of my skin got peeled off by the hot water. It began to rain outside, and lightning struck me and hit me in the head. I got scared. And I was walking to school in the rain with no umbrella, and I got wet. I was walking on the street when a car came up to me and started following me. I kept running, but the car kept following me, no matter where I went. Then the car ran me over and hit me, and I got flattened like a piece of pancake. Out of nowhere, a steamroller ran down the street and flattened me real good. I never saw it coming! Then for lunch at school, I ate ham sandwich and found ants and bugs crawling on it. I got scared and I screamed. So I ate another ham sandwich and I swallowed it, but I didn't know there were ants inside the sandwich, too. So I nearly got sick, went to the bathroom, and vomitted in the bathroom sink. That's how my day went today.

©2026 WordBlanks.com · All Rights Reserved.