I Sent A Letter To Your Boyfriend

I sent our boyfriend a           Noun          . It was about how me, your best           Noun           has been single for the past           Number           months. I asked him if he could set me up with any of his friends. He said that there are so many           Proper noun plural           for me to pick from that I would have to meet them all and pick out a few that I liked. So your boyfriend and I set up a date where he and all of his friends will be at the           Location           together. I went and there was so many cute guys that I could not contain myself. I went over to the center of the mob of guys. They were all           Verb ending in ing           on me. I got hooked up with the           Noun           guy ever. Thanks for having such a good           Noun          .
